Apostrophes for Plural Possession

Warm-Up

What Is Plural Possession?

Apostrophes can be used to show that something belongs to someone or something. This is called possession. When we are talking about more than one thing, we call this plural.

The dogs' leads were too long. The children's lunch was delayed.

If the noun is plural and ends with an s, we just attach the apostrophe to it without an additional s.
 If the noun is plural and does not end with s, we add 's to the end.

Plural Possession

Now it is your turn. Read the singular form of the noun, make the noun plural and then show where the apostrophe would need to be to show plural possession.

Singular	Plural	Plural Possession
kitten	kittens	kittens'
actress	actresses	actresses'
baby	babies	babies'
knife	knives	knives'
child	children	children's
volcano	volcanoes	volcanoes'

Pandora's Box... (part 3)

You can guess what happened next. It was Pandora whose curiosity got the better of her. When she knew that Epimetheus was out of sight, Pandora placed the box on the floor and took the small gold key. She closed her eyes and took a deep breath as she unlocked the box. Pandora opened her eyes and pulled the box open, expecting to see fine silk dresses and jewellery; but there was not one gold bracelet or fine silk dress in sight!

Instead, Zeus had packed terrible evils into the box and out poured sickness, death, hate, envy, poverty and sadness in the form of a horrible black mass. Pandora slammed the lid shut but it was too late; the evils had already escaped into the world. Epimetheus heard her weeping and ran into the room to console her. Pandora could still hear a tiny voice inside the box, pleading to be released. Epimetheus and Pandora thought that nothing could be worse than the horrors that had already been released, so together they opened the box.

Out fluttered hope in the form of a beautiful gold dragonfly, healing some of the sickness and sorrow. Even though Pandora had released suffering and sadness upon the world, she had also released hope and this made all the difference in the world.

Look at the words underlined in the sentences below and write down the word which best describes the meaning of that word. Remember, to go back to the story to help you. There are some words for you to choose from.
